CONTENTS - Volume 5, No. 3

Selected papers from the 21st International Geochemical Exploration Symposium held at University College, Dublin, 29 August–3 September 2003

The role of surface geochemistry in the discovery of the Babel and Nebo magmatic nickel–copper–PGE deposits by P. M. Baker & R. S. Waugh 195

Vertical ionic migration: mechanisms, soil anomalies, and sampling depth for mineral exploration by A. W. Mann, R. D. Birrell, M. A. F. Fedikow & H. A. F. de Souza 201

Dispersion of gold in stream sediments in the Sungai Kuli region, Sabah, Malaysia by W. K. Fletcher & J. Muda 211

Transportation and deposition of magnetite and gold in Harris Creek, south-central British Columbia by Z. Hou & W. K. Fletcher 215

Controls of element dispersion in aeolian sand and calcrite-dominated regolith associated with gold mineralization in the Kraaipan greenstone belt, South Africa by C. D. Okujeni, P. Ackon, W. Baugaard & N. Langa 223

Indicator mineral methods in mineral exploration by M. B. McCloughan 233

Rutile geochemistry as a guide to porphyry Cu–Au mineralization, Northparkes, New South Wales, Australia by K. M. Scott 247

Atypical and typical zinc geochemistry in a carbonate setting, Sá Dena Hes Mine, Yukon Territory, Canada by S. J. Day & R. J. Bowell 255

The use of quartz concentrate (acid-insoluble residue) as a sample medium in lithogeochemistry and regolith exploration studies: development of a method by J. C. van Moort & A. Pwa 267

Optimization of partial extraction chemistry for buffered acetate and hydroxylamine leaches by I. J. Dalrymple, D. R. Cohen & S. G. Gatehouse 279

Geochemistry: Exploration, Environment, Analysis (ISSN 1467-7873) is published in February, May, August and November by the Geological Society Publishing House for the Geological Society, London and the Association of Applied Geochemists.

Subscriptions (volume 5, 2005): The subscription rate is £135 (UK), £135/$243 (rest of Europe, USA & Canada) and £152/$274 (rest of world) per volume, including postage and air-speeded delivery. Single issue price is £37 (UK), £37/$67 (rest of Europe, USA & Canada) and £42/$76 (rest of world).
